

In regards to mandatory recording of radio programming. In small markets indecent material by and large does not exist. The added expense to install equipment to accomplish this is a clear hardship to small market owners/operators. I would hope that this government agency would pursue indecency issues with other electronic media as well. To single out radio as the primary source of indecent material is just plain wrong!